Extracto

I am Full Stack Developer currently working at Extrimian.
I'm always looking for new challenges to continue learning and growing.

I studied at SoyHenry, where I learned several programming skills, as well as Agile methodologies, teamwork, and had the opportunity to participate in their Project Manager Internship Program.

I lived in Brazil for two years, where I was working as a volunteer missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, so there was a constant relationship building with those around me.
